VELD MANAGEMENT

1. ABOUT THIS COURSE

This course aims to train the learner on the important principles and practices needed to ensure good land and veld management. All people directly or indirectly involved in veld and land management will benefit from this course.

Learners who complete the training receive credit bearing certificates under the jurisdiction of AgriSETA. This course is a NQF 4 course and the minimum required qualification to enrol is grade 11. The course is based on the SAQA unit standard titled “Implement a natural resource management plan” (Unit standard ID 116303). Africa Land-Use Training is an AgriSETA accredited training provider.

The book “Veld Management – principles and practices” is the handbook and is included in the cost.

3. COURSE CONTENT

The course includes theoretical and practical training. The following modules are included:

Module 1 – Introduction to veld (natural resource) management

This module looks at what veld management entails and discusses the important legislation dealing directly or indirectly with this important topic.

Module 2 – The natural resources

This module looks at the natural resources we are dealing with during land and veld management. The main natural resources discussed in this module include soil (and geology), vegetation, water and climate.

Module 3 –Veld management principles and processes

This module looks at the important ecological principles and processes that need to be understood to effectively manage natural resources and veld in general. Understanding these principles and processes helps the land manager to “read” trends in land condition and to make important decisions at the right time.

Module 4 – Veld management practices

This module looks at important veld management practices needed for proper land management and improving land condition (biodiversity and production alike). These practices include aspects such as farm planning, grazing management/systems, fire management, veld condition assessment and the control of unwanted plants. This module also includes natural resource management plans and programs that can be used to assist the land manager/user throughout the year to improve management on the farm.
